1. Federal Election Results - Members of Parliament

Foreword: From 1867 to 1966, Charlotte County, with its county boundaries, was an electoral district or riding in itself. In 1966, changes came with the formation of the "Carlton-Charlotte" district which included Charlotte County, Carlton County and parts of Saint John County (parish of Musquash) and York County (parishes of Canterbury, McAdam, Manners Sutton and North Lake). In 1996, Carlton County was split into two ridings, "Tobique-Mactaquac" and "Charlotte". The newly formed "Charlotte" riding not only included Charlotte County and parts of Carlton County but also parts of Saint John County, York County, Queens County, Kings County and Sudbury County. In 1998, the riding name was changed its name to "New Brunswick Southwest". Election boundaries and names were once again altered in 2003 as Charlotte County became part of the "St. Croix-Belleisle" riding. After the 2004 election, an amendment was made to change the riding name from "St. Croix-Belleisle" to "New Brunswick Southwest".

Today, "New Brunswick Southwest" includes the following: the County of Charlotte; part of the County of Saint John comprised of the Parish of Musquash; part of the County of Kings comprised of the parishes of Greenwich, Kars, Springfield and Studholm; part of the Parish of Westfield lying northerly and westerly of the Saint John River; and the Town of Grand Bay-Westfield; part of the County of Queens comprised of: the parishes of Cambridge, Gagetown, Hampstead, Johnston, Petersville and Wickham; the villages of Cambridge-Narrows and Gagetown; part of the County of Sunbury comprised of: the parishes of Gladstone and Blissville; the villages of Tracy and Fredericton Junction; and part of the County of York comprised of: the parishes of Dumfries, Kingsclear, Manners Sutton, McAdam, New Maryland and Prince William; the villages of Harvey and McAdam; Kingsclear Indian Reserve No. 6.

2. Provincial Election Results - MLAs

In 1785, elections were held for the first provincial assembly. All males of full age (21) who had been in New Brunswick more than 3 months had the right to vote. For the first hundred years, political parties as they are known today did not exist. This may be difficult for us to understand today, since we are used to voting for a particular party, often regardless of the particular individual running in our riding. For many years, electors seemed to vote based on the candidates personal inclinations, such as religion, place of birth, social class, drinking habits and family ties. The only specific divisions that seemed to exist was between the "government' and the "opposition". It is not until 1935 that party lines and affiliations became stable. Announced platforms were not an integral part of the process. Candidates could run in more than one constituency during an election. Up until 1830, Catholics could not vote in the province of New Brunswick. After this year, it was possible to vote after swearing allegiance to the King and his Protestant heirs. Catholics who were not willing to swear in allegiance to the King and his Protestant heirs were not allowed to vote. Since French Canadians were usually not land owners and were mostly Catholics, they were more often than not excluded from the voting process. The secret ballot has also evolved over the years. For many years, one voted by voicing out a choice of candidate to the poll clerk who wrote the name down in a small book. It was not until 1855, with the introduction of the secret ballot, that voting becomes a confidential act.

New Brunswick women won the right to vote provincially in 1919, and 1934, women won the right to be elected to provincial office. In 1963, Native Indians were allowed to vote. Until the reforms of 1967, it was necessary to be a land owner to vote municipally and provincially in the province of New Brunswick. People who did not own land could pay a poll tax and vote. As of 1966, age and residency become the only criteria for voting in New Brunswick municipal elections. The 1970 election was the first New Brunswick provincial election contested by the New Democratic Party, though they did not win any seats.

The 1974 election was the first election which saw candidates contest single member ridings; previous elections had each county as an electoral district electing a varying number of members based on their respective populations. In Charlotte County, four distinct ridings were create (St. Stephen-Milltown, Charlotte Centre, Charlotte Fundy, Charlotte West) from the former single riding of "Charlotte".

Pre-Confederacy and Confederacy Elections - The New Brunswick general election of 1866 was held in May and June 1866 to elect 41 members to the 21st New Brunswick Legislative Assembly. This was the 21st General Election for the British colony of New Brunswick, but is considered the 1st General Election for the Canadian province of New Brunswick. Of forty-one (41) MLAs, thirty-three (33) were "Confederationalists", supporting confederation, and eight (8) were "Constitutionalists", opposed to confederation, who formed the opposition. Elections previous to 1866 are referred to as "Pre-Confederation Elections" or General Elections for the British colony of New Brunswick.

3. Local Service Districts - LSDs

As of 2013, Charlotte County contains nineteen (19) Local Service Districts, of which, twelve are served by an elected committee. While some of the LSDs are served by an elected committee of members, other LSD remain under the administration of the Provincial Government who will contract out services such as fire and garbage collection. "TA" means "Taxing Authority". Technically, the area of Bonny River-Second Falls is part of LSD St. George, but is its own entity because the LSD/TA maintains their own fire department and is therefore a separate LSD.

5. Municipal Mayors

Below is a list of Mayors of the various municipalities of Charlotte County. This list give the name of the Mayor with the date elected to office in brackets. This date does not include sequential elections following in which the given mayor retained their office.

In the 1800s, St. Stephen and Milltown were separate communities. In 1871, the community of Milltown incorporated. A few years later, St. Stephen followed with incorporation. For over 100 year the two towns operated independently but were very much connected with one another. The towns were also very much connected to the town of Calais, which was located across the river, and international border, in the state of Maine. St. Stephen and Milltown amalgamated on October 1, 1973 and became known as "St. Stephen Milltown". However the municipality adopted a simplified version when in 1977 the community became known simply as "The town of St. Stephen".

6. Remembrances & Obituaries

Below are a number of obituaries of former members of government.

BREAULT, G. ANN (McKINLEY) - 1938-2021 - With profound sadness we announce the passing of our loving and devoted mother, Ann, on September 26, 2021. Surrounded by all six of her children, Ann passed away peacefully at home in St. Stephen. She was in her 82nd year. Born and raised in 1938 in Moncton, NB, she was the eldest daughter of the late Louis and Florence (Sinclair) McKinley. Upon graduating from Moncton High School, Ann attended New Brunswick Teacher's College in Fredericton where she received her teacher's licence in 1957. It was here that she met her future husband, Michel. In 1959, the couple were wed at St. Augustine Church in Moncton. From there, they moved to Sackville, NB where they worked as teachers and started their family. Following the birth of their second child, they moved to St. Stephen where they raised their six children. For Ann, writing was a passion. And in 1967, she was given a column to write for the St. Croix Courier; a job she could do from home while raising her small children. The following year, she added Charlotte County news correspondent for the Telegraph Journal to her duties. This foray into journalism grew as she intermittently worked as columnist, staff writer and editor of the Saint Croix Courier until 1980. While striking a work and home life balance, Ann also found time to research and write The Journey, a history of the Holy Rosary Church in St. Stephen, published in 1977. Once her children were older, Ann returned to study and enrolled at the Saint John School of Nursing. At the age of 45, she graduated with honors and received the Award for General Proficiency from the Saint John Regional Hospital's Board of Commissioners, and from there, she began her nursing career at the Ridgewood Treatment and Rehabilitation Centre and Lincourt Manor. Throughout her adult life, Ann was a highly active volunteer who worked hard to support her local and global communities. A tireless advocate for social justice. Ann made it her mission to speak out on behalf of our marginalized and disadvantaged citizens. As a former president of the Charlotte County Women's Council, Ann was actively involved in establishing the Fundy Region Transition House, the Charlotte County Day Care Centres in St. Stephen and St. Andrews, and in convening the "Women and the Law" and "Women and Health" conferences. For several years, Ann volunteered for the Charlotte County Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association. She served as the New Brunswick Division president and was a former member of the National CMHA Board of Directors. In addition to attending national conferences, Ann was Chairperson for the National Conference on Children's Mental Health in 1979, and in 1983, she received the CMHA National President's Award. Ann's other committee work included Development and Peace, Ten Days Committee, The Catholic Women's League, and The Irish Cultural Society. In 1986, Ann was approached by a number of hometown residents to run in the upcoming provincial election to be held the following year. After careful consideration, and with the full support of her family, she ran as the Liberal candidate representing St. Stephen-Milltown (later Western Charlotte) and won. She held the seat for 12 years as a Liberal member in the Legislative Assembly of New Brunswick before retiring in 1999. During her tenure, Ann served in the Province's Executive Council as Minister of Income Assistance (later Minister of Human Resources), Minister of State for Literacy, Minister of Municipalities, Culture and Housing and Minister of Health and Community Services. While in office, Ann was a tireless advocate for the development and construction of the Fundy Trail Parkway, the Kingsbrae Botanical Gardens in St. Andrews, and the Milltown Elementary School. After retiring from politics, Ann continued to pursue many interests and hobbies that she enjoyed with her husband, Michel. Together they created beautiful gardens at Mon Caprice, their cherished home in Bocabec. Here they hosted many joyous family gatherings that always included music, and sometimes a little dancing. During the winter, they loved to sit by the fire, sip a little wine and build puzzles together. Ann delighted in the wonders of nature and had an abiding love for animals, several of which took up residence with her and Michel over the years. Along with Michel, Ann enjoyed researching local history and genealogy. These passions were made manifest in her work on the Milltown Cotton Mill Monument, and book, Of the Country, which she coauthored with her aunt, Winnifred Smith. Ann's zest for life and kindness shown to others was limitless. Her love and support for her children, unwavering. Her pride and joy in her grandchildren and great grandchildren, uncontainable. Her affection for her siblings and extended family and friends was deep and soulful. She was a very special lady, and we will miss her dearly. Ann is survived by her two daughters, Mary Quartermain (Dave), of St. Stephen, NB, Kathleen Breault of Bocabec, NB, four sons: Pierre (Marianne), of St. Stephen, NB, Greg (Cheryl) of St. Stephen, NB, Andre (Vikki) of St. Andrews, and David (Catherine) of St. Stephen, NB. Ten grandchildren: Julia, Andrew, Faith, Justin, Adam, Michael, Christopher, Victoria, Tamara and Gillian. Three great-grandchildren: Teagan, Chloe and Emma, and several nieces, nephews and cousins. Ann is also survived by her siblings: Robert (Helen) McKinley, of Moncton, NB, Margaret (David) Lowell, of Mount Dora, FL, Catherine (David) Pohl, of Ponoka, AB, Paul (Pauline) McKinley, of Alma, NB, and Michael (Carolyn) McKinley, of Lakeville Corner, NB. Ann was predeceased by her husband, Michel. The funeral service in celebration of Ann's life will be held on Thursday, September 30th, 2021 at 2:00 pm in the chapel of Humphreys Funeral Home, 20 Marks Street, St. Stephen, NB. In lieu of flowers donations can be made to Fundy Regional Transition House, The Nature Trust of New Brunswick or charity of the donor's choice.

CALDER, FOSTER G., Judge, MLA - Funeral services will be conducted at Fairhaven this afternoon (Thursday) for Judge Foster G. Calder, who died unexpectedly at his home Tuesday morning. He was 85 years and would have been 87 in another month. Judge of probate for Charlotte County since 1949 and a former member of the provincial Legislature Judge Calder was widely know in New Brunswick. He served three terms in the House as a Liberal MLA for Charlotte and during that time was chairman of the public accounts committee four years. Services were arranged for 2 p.m. in the Fairhaven United Baptist Church of which Judge Calder was a staunch member, with burial following in the cemetery at Cummings Cove. Born at Fairhaven February 11, 1873, son of John C. Calder and Mary A. (Fountain) Calder, Judge Calder lived almost all of his life on the county's islands of Grand Manan, Deer Island and Campobello. As a school teacher earier in life, he held positions on each of the Islands as well as at McAdam. Known as a deeply and sincerely religious man, he had completed a four-year correspondence course from a bible school in Tennessee, which awarded him the degree of master of sacred literature on January 1, 1900. After completing his early education at Fairhaven, Judge Calder entered the former Provincial Normal School at Fredericton – now Teachers College – from which he graduated with the rating of first class superior teacher. He taught pupils at McAdam, Welshpool on Campobello, Leonardville and Fairhaven on Deer Island and White Head on Grand Manan for eight and a half years. Judge Calder first was elected to the New Brunswick Legislature on 1935, on the Liberal ticket. He was reelected to the seat twice in a row and did not reoffer in the 1948 voting. In 1949 he was appointed judge of probate for the county, an office which he filled until his death. Judge Calder was twice married. Of his first marriage, he is survived by one son, Ashley Calder of Chatham, Massachusetts, and of his second by his wife the former Hattie Far

CAMPBELL, WILLIAM NEIL - 1885-1979 - The death of former MLA William Neil Campbell occurred at the Passamaquoddy Lodge, St. Andrews, following a brief illness, on July 28, 1979. Mr. Campbell, 94, was a son of the late Daniel and Eliza Lydie (Mann) Campbell and was born on June 14, 1885 at Breadalbane, near St. George. He was a resident of St. George the greater part of his life, where he was a member of the United Baptist Church. Keenly interested in town, country and provincial affairs, Mr. Campbell served here as mayor of the town for four years, and also served as a member of the town council. GANONG, ARTHUR DEINSTADT, Hon. MP - 1877-1960 - Inventor of Chocolate Bar, 40 years head of Candy firm - A. D. Ganong, industrialist, lawmaker and one of the most prominent of this province's native sons, died Monday morning in the Saint John General Hospital at the age of 83. Funeral services were held today, November 24, 1960, at his residence in St. Stephen. Mr. Ganong, referred to locally for many years simply as "A. D.", died of a stroke suffered scant hours before he was to return home from the hospital. He continued to act in his capacity as chairman of the board of Ganong Brothers Limited until entered hospital in Saint John for routine medical treatment one month ago. Mr. Ganong's death stunned this border community and brought messages of sympathy from many parts of Canada. During his extraordinarily active lifetime, Mr. Ganong was president of the St. Stephen candy factory for 40 years, a member of the House of Commons from Charlotte County from 1930 to 1935, the holder of an honorary degree from the University of New Brunswick and a major force in virtually all areas of community affairs. He, in collaboration with George F. Ensor, is credited with inventing the world's first chocolate bar and introducing many innovations for the manufacture of candy. Arthur

Deinstadt Ganong was born in St. Stephen, August 3, 1877, the son of James Ganong, found of the candy factory. He was next to the last of seven children and was 11 years old when his father died at the age of 47. Management of the factory went to his father's brother, Gilbert Ganong, Young Arthur attended St. Stephen High School for two years prior to winning a scholarship to UNB. His uncle Gilbert took him into the factory at the age of 19 and two years later, at the age of 21, he was made manager. Gilbert Ganong died in 1917, a few months after his appointment as Lieutenant Governor of New Brunswick, and A. D. Ganong became president, an office he held for 40 years. He was appointed chairman of the board three years ago, this enabling him to complete 63 consecutive years as a director of the firm. This is believed to be one of the longest directorships in the history of Canadian industry. Mr. Ganong was always a strong supporter of the principal that business should maintain industrial organizations. He was the first president of the Biscuit, Chocolate and Confectionery Association of Canada, which came into being in 1919. He was one of the prime moves for the formation of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. He was one time chairman of the Maritime Division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and president of the Maritime Board of Trade. During World War II Mr. Ganong headed a highly successful series of Victory Bond campaigns as chairman of the National War Finance Committee for Charlotte County. Two of these campaigns raised more money per capita than those conducted elsewhere in Canada. Mr. Ganong was also a director of the New Brunswick Telephone Company Limited from 1937 to 1951, resigning only at the age of 75. Close to home, "A.D." was president of the board of trustee of the old Chipman Memorial Hospital for 32 years and became the first president of the board of the new Charlotte County Hospital. He was chairman of the drive to raise funds for construction of the new hospital. He was also president of the St. Stephen Rural Cemetery for many years. He served two terms as a member of the St. Stephen Town Council and was a president of the local Board of Trade and was a director of the New Brunswick Power Commission. It was "A.D." who headed scores of local charity drives and worked tirelessly for the Salvation Army. When he was elected Conservative member of Parliament for Charlotte in 1930, he rejected an invitation to accept a portfolio in the Bennett cabinet because he felt he could not spare the time from his own business. The depression was deep and getting deeper. As "A.D." said it "I just couldn't let down all those who were depending on me to keep the factory running, and keep it in St. Stephen." Such actions endeared him to residents of St. Stephen and he was well-known as a friend to the people of all ages and from all walks of life. In addition to his many outside interests, Mr. Ganong found time to compile an enormous library consisting of many thousands of books, and maintained close relation with his family. While serving in the House of Commons he accepted the chairmanship of the Bennett Housing Commission and on four occasions was a member of government commissions on various topics. The University of New Brunswick honoured him with an honorary degree three years ago and he was a member of the UNB Senate for several years. "A.D.'s" personal life included his marriage in 1904 to Berla Whidden of Calais who died in the Summer of 1958. They were parent of two sons Whidden and Philip Ganong, and two daughters, the late Mrs. Philip G. Corliss (Carmen) and Miss Joan Ganong, widely known author and critic. At UNB, he was rated the best halfback ever to wear the college uniform. He was a star on the St. Stephen hockey team when it won the New Brunswick championship three years running and was equally deadly in American rugby football. "A.D." was also a keen tennis player and curler, a past president of the St. Stephen Curling Club, past president and honorary president of the New Brunswick Branch, Royal Caledonia Curling Club. He was instrumental in donating the Ganong Cup, emblematic of the New Brunswick curling title. Mr. Ganong was honoured in September 1956 when some 250 admirers tendered him a complimentary dinner at the Algonquin Hotel in St. Andrews. A silver plaque presented at that time marked 60 years of "exemplary service to his native town, county, province and nation as an industrialist, parliamentarian, sportsman and community leader." He is survived by: his sons, Philip and Whidden; his daughter Joan; a brother. Walter K. Ganong of Digby; a sister Dr. Susan Ganong, Rothesay; two grandsons, Philip and David. A second daughter, Mrs. Philip Corliss, predeceased him. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. L. E. Davis of the Baptist Church.

GANONG, GILBERT W., Hon. Lt. Gov. - 1851-1917 - Something of the loss that this town and province has sustained in the death of Governor Gilbert W. Ganong was borne in upon the people, with added sorrow, when they gathered to lay the sad tribute of respect on Friday afternoon. The town itself was in mourning and with its people were gathered representatives citizens from all parts of the province and from across the line in Maine and there were sincere expressions of regret because of the demise of a good man and true. In St. Stephen and in Milltown the wheels of industry and marts of trade had ceased to do business for the day at the noon hour out of respect to the deceased, and in Calais all business was suspended during this progress of the funeral service. Flags were at half mast and the public schools had been closed and the young and old, rich and poor, sorrowed because of the death of Governor Ganong. A notable tribute was paid his memory as the cortege passed the Church of the Holy Rosary, the bell in its belfry tolling out the number of his years. From early morning, a detachment from the Great War Veterans' Association, composed of Henry Warder, Leonard Webber, had mounted guard at Lonicera Hall, and during the progress of the services two other returned soldiers, Vernon Fawkes, and Cecil Bailey, did duty at the gate of the main entrance. The service in the saddened home was private and was attended only by the family and official representatives, but about the grounds and the surrounding streets were gathered thousands who sorrowed in respectful silence with those within. Rev. W. C. Goucher, DD., pastor of the Union Street Baptist Church, which Mr. Ganong had regularly attended, conducted the service and offered prayer, Ven. Archdeacon Newnham, rector of Christ Church, read the Old Testament lesson and Rev. Wm Tomalin, rector of Trinity Church, the New Testament lesson. Rev. H. S. B. Strotbard, pastor of the Methodist Church, read the poem "Now The Labourer's Task Is Over" and Rev. W. W. Malcolm, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, pronounced the benediction. It was typical of the life that Mr. Ganong had lived, touching every corner of the community, that the pastors of all the Protestant churches had part in the solemn service and that the pastor of the Catholic church paid tribute in the tolling of his bell. Hymns were sweetly sung by a quartet composed of H. E. Beek, W. G. DeWolfe, W. A. Hyslop and Jack Waterson. The room where the body reposed was showered with flowers, beautiful tributes of respect and esteem. The set pieces from many organizations numbered thirty seven. The solemn service concluded and the procession to the silent city of the dead was taken up. The pallbearers were Professor W. F. Ganong of Smith College, J. Edward Ganong of Toronto, Arthur D. Ganong of St. Stephen and Walter K. Ganong, of Saint John, nephews of the deceased. Members of the government of the province in attendance were Premier Walter E. Foster; Hon. J. P Bryne, Attorney General; the Provincial Secretary; Minister of Public Works; Minister of Agriculture; Minister of Land and Mines. The legislature of the province was represented by Hon. James A. Murray, leader of the opposition, and many other members. The city government of Calais was represented by Mayor Miner and several Aldermen. The town council of St. Andrews was represented by Mayor Greenlaw and Aldermen Douglas, Denley, McFarlane, Malpass, Gillman and Finnigan. The town council of St. George was represented by Mayor Lawrence, Aldermen Johnson and Fauley. The town council of Milltown was represented by Mayor Burns, Councillors McAllister, Olive, Porter, Norwood and Sinclair. The town council of St. Stephen was represented by Major Grimmer, Councillors Toal, Nelson, Johnson, Higgins, Nesbitt, Graham and James Vroom, town clerk. The attendance of distinguished public men of the province was very large and included among others, H. A. Powell, KC, of Saint John, a member of the International Waterways Commission; R. E. Armstrong, secretary of the Saint John Board of Trade; H. C. Grout, L. Malkers, James Burk and James Green, representing departments of the C.P.R.; W. J. Wetmore of Moirs Ltd., of Halifax, F. T. Barbour, of G. E. Babour Co., Saint John; George L. Ellis, of Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Montreal; R. Fowler, of Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Saint John; R. G. Schofield, of Acadian Sugar Refineries, Halifax; T. H. Estabrooks of Saint John, E. R. Teed of Woodstock; C. H. Lynott of St. George; W. H. Woods, post office inspector, of Saint John; James Queen of the Canada Life Insurance Co., Saint John; Thomas R. Wren, collector of customs, St. Andrews; George Craig, collector of customs, St. George. Twenty five members of the Great War Veterans Association, including a delegation from Saint John, and under command of Lieut. James Inches, were in line and formed a notable part of the procession. This is one of the institutions of the Great War in which the late Governor Ganong had shown a great interest. The employees of Ganong Bros. Ltd., numbered two hundred and seventeen and included the travellers from the big firm eat of Toronto. The citizens in the procession numbered many hundreds, It was the first time in local history that teams were discarded at a funeral and it was one of the largest funeral procession that was even seen here. It is estimated that one thousand people participated. A solemn stillness pervaded all for it was realized that one of the great captains of industry and one of the truly great men of the county was being born to his last resting place and that, except in enduring memory, he would be known among men no more forever. A splendid and a just portrait of the personality of the late Governor Ganong was given by Dr. Goucher, his pastor, in the Baptist Church on Sunday evening. The Honourable Gilbert White Ganong, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of New Brunswick from July 4, 1917, was born at Springfield, Kings County, May 22, 1851, the youngest of a family of six. He attended the public schools of Springfield, and afterwards the provincial normal school in Fredericton. For a time he taught school at Fairville, N.B., and intended to study medicine, but in 1874 he entered into a partnership with his elder brother, the late James H. Ganong, and together they formed the business which has grown into the company of Ganong Bros., Limited. Of this company now ell known in commercial circle as the largest manufacturer of fine confectionery in Canada, Mr. Ganong was the president and controlling stockholder. He first entered politics in 1896, when he was elected to the Dominion parliament, as a Liberal-Conservative representing Charlotte County, and he was re-elected in 1900 and 1904. He married at St. Stephen, October 18, 1876, Maria F. Robinson, daughter of the late John B. Robinson, who survives him. His public activities, however, were not confines to politics, for he had always taken a deep and practical interest in the general progress of the community, especially in matters of education and patriotic nature. It is of particular interest to observe that Mr. Ganong was not only himself intimately identified with the business and political life of New Brunswick, but he belonged to a family as closely associated with the foundation and subsequent progress of the province. On both sides of his family he was entirely of Loyalist descent. He was a great-grandson of Thomas Ganong, who prior to the revolution, was a farmer of Westchester County, New York, and who came as a Loyalist in New Brunswick in the spring of 1783. He settled at Kingston, Kings County, where he was a vestryman of Trinity Church, in the church yard of which he is buried with his wife, Jeanna Barlow. Thomas Ganong, the Loyalist, was a direct descendant in the fifth generation from Jean Guenan (of which the name Ganong is a corruption), who was one of the many French Huguenots of Nantes. He went to Holland and then came to New York in 1637 and settled Flushing, Long Island, of which place he became a prominent resident. From him and his wife, Grietie Sneden, a member of the Dutch family of New York, are descended the many families of Ganong and Genung in the United States and New Brunswick, and the character and success of these families testifies to the value of the Huguenot and Dutch accessions to the population of America. Thomas Ganong was the only one of the name to settle in New Brunswick, and from him are descended the many families of the name who live in the Province of New Brunswick and constitute a part of its sturdy yeomanry especially in Kings County. His son, James, was father of Francis Daniel, a prominent resident of Hatfield's Point on the Belleisle, who was Mr. Ganong's father. The other branch of this family were Coxs, also Loyalist, Mr. Ganong's mother was Deborah Ruth Kierstead, a granddaughter of James Kierstead, another Loyalist from New York State, who settled in Kings County. He in turn was a descendant in the fifth generation from Dr. Hans Kierstead, who came to America in 1638, and settled in New York city, of which he became one of the principal physicians, and where he married a daughter of Anneke Jans, famous as the former owner of the vast, Trinity church estates. James Kierstead's descendants are numerous in New Brunswick, especially in Kings County, and they include a notable number of clergymen and teachers. The other branch of this family is descended from William Gray, also a prominent Loyalist, who settled on the Belleisle. In fact, Mr. Ganong's eight great-grandparents were without exception Loyalist. It seems only yesterday that Mr. Ganong was sworn in lieutenant governor and was received by an outpouring of the people on his return. That afternoon he had been sworn in as chief executive or governor of the province and there must have been some evidence that the province needs a guiding hand above that of man, for he had been presented with a bible as well as the rules and regulations that are to govern his conduct. He felt that it was a great honour to himself, to the town and to the county. In looking back over the past forty five years, he realized that Charlotte County has produced some very estimable representatives such as John Bolton, Hon. Arthur H. Gillmor, Hon. B. R. Stevenson, George F. Hibbard, Hon. James Mitchell, Hon. W. C. Grimmer, Hon. George J. Clarke, and the present Senator Daniel Gillmor. Both in the local houses and at Ottawa, the county had been represented by men of high standing and in whom they could well feel pride. Mr. Ganong died on October 31, 1917.

GILLMOR, ARTHUR HILL, Hon. Senator - 1824-1903 - A sadden summons was that which came to an honored citizen of Charlotte County on Monday night, April 13, 1903, and brought to an active life. Hon. Senator Gillmor came to St. Stephen by Shore Line, enroute to Ottawa to resume his duties in the senate. At the Windsor he sat down o the table with Hon. George F. Hill but complained of not feeling and did not eat. In the course of the meal he remarked that when a man had reached seventy eight years of age he could not expect robust health but should be prepared for a summons at any time. During the afternoon he called on a number of friends and drove with G. W. Ganong and at 6:20 boarded the train for Montreal. On the train he chatted pleasantly with his fellow passengers but retired when near Mattawamkeag (near Lincoln, Maine). He emerged from his berth for a minute but complained of illness and at once returned. The porter was summoned but, on reaching the berth, found that life had fled and only the tenement of clay remained. The body was removed to Superintendent Osborn's car, which was attached to the train, and carried to Montreal to the home of Daniel Gillmor, where his aged partner had remained while Senator Gillmor had been at St. George. The news of his demise was not received here until the following morning but it created a profound feeling of regret that one known and respected for so many years should pass in and out among us no more. Arthur Hill Gillmor was a son of Daniel and Purmelia Gillmor, both natives of New Brunswick, and was born at St. George on March 12, 1824. He was educated at the St. Andrews grammar school and engaged in the lumber and farming business. Almost half a century ago, in 1854, he first entered politics in Charlotte County and was elected a member of the legislative assembly, remaining a member until 1866. When the question of federation was discussed, Mr. Gillmor threw his influence against the movement and became provincial secretary in Albert Smith's anti-confederate cabinet in 1865. In the election held the next year, Mr. Gillmor was not returned. In 1872 he was an unsuccessful candidate against John McAdam from the House of Commons at Ottawa, Mr. McAdam's majority being 222. In 1874 he was first returned to the House of Commons, defeating Hon. McAdam by 206 votes and again defeating him by 228 votes in 1878. In 1882 he defeated Hon. B. R. Stevenson by 314 votes, defeated John D. Chipman by 81 votes in 1887 and George J. Clarke by 248 votes in 1891. In 1896, when the Liberal Party, to which he had given unfaltering allegiance, came into power, Hon. Mr. Gillmor was defeated by Gilbert W. Ganong, the present member, by 472 votes. He was a strong candidate for the office of Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick in 1898 and 1899, being strongly endorsed by his former political opponents as well as supporters, but did not secure the appointment. He was subsequently appointed Canadian commissioner to the World's Fair at Paris and in 1900 was appointed to the Senate of Canada and continued until his call on Monday night to the eternal reward of a well spent life. As a political campaigner he occupied a strong position, delivering telling blows but fighting honorably at all times. He was a thorough-going free trader who never felt in necessary to trim his sails for any breeze. His speeches were sarcastic but witty and telling in their effect. The closing of a contest marked with him the closing of political animosity and to his example in this respect is largely due the happy condition which prevails in Charlotte County today. In the House in Ottawa he occupied a strong position, when an address from Mr. Gillmor was always listened to with pleasure. Personally, he was a most companionable man, always cheerful and in his home, exercising a generous hospitality and liberal charity. Hon. Mr. Gillmor was married in January 1846, to Miss Hannah Dawes Howe, of Maine, who, with three sons and one daughter, survive him. The sons are Daniel and Percy of Montreal, Dr. Gillmor of St. Martins, N.B., and the daughter Delia, is the wife of Dr. Dick of St. George. The remains of the deceased senator arrived at St. Stephen by C.P.R. train on Wednesday (April 15, 1903) and were met by the mayor and town council and a large gathering of prominent citizens and escorted to the Shore Line for conveyance to St. George. The pallbearers here were W. F. Todd, J. D. Chipman, D. T. Dwyer, F. M. Murchie, James N. Clarke and Gilbert W. Ganong, MP. Flags were flying at half mast all day and blinds were drawn as the procession passed through our streets. Mrs. Gillmor, Daniel and Percy Gillmor, and other members of the family, accompanied the remains.

GILLMOR, DANIEL, Hon. Senator - 1849-1918 - A very sorrow message, and one that had not in any way been expected came from Montreal on Friday morning, February 22 1918, announcing that Senator Daniel Gillmor has passed away. He had always appeared a robust man and though his intimate friends knew that he had suffered for some years with an impaired heart, the knowledge was not general, and the announcement of his demise was an unexpected as it was sorrowing. Senator Gillmor was a gentleman of a most kindly, genial disposition, esteemed by all classes in Charlotte County. The following dispatch from Montreal, dated on Friday, gives some particulars of the sad occurrence and of his life: "The Hon. Daniel Gillmor, a member of the Dominion Senate died suddenly at an early hour this morning, Feb. 22, at his residence, 4149 Dorchester Street, Westmount. He had not been ill long and had attended to his business all day yesterday in his usual way. When seized with heart weakness this morning, his physician was summoned in haste. He retained full use of his faculties to the last and t was while conversing with the physician that he expired. Deceased was sixty nine years of age. Interment will take place at St. George, N.B. Senator Gillmor was of Irish descent, and a son of the late Hon. Senator Arthur Hill Gillmor, and his wife Hannah Dawes Gillmor. He was born at St. George in Charlotte County on July 1, 1849, and received his education there. He entered mercantile life at an early age and was for many years a member of the firm O'Brien and Gillmor, of St. George, N.B. Besides owning a large amount of property in St. George, he also acquired a leading interest in the extensive granite quarries of that place. Many years ago he came to Montreal and became a member of the coffee firm Chase and Sanborn, retaining this connection to the present time. He retained his summer home at St. George and spent part of every year in New Brunswick. IRWIN, HENRY GILBERT, MLA - 1925-2011 - Henry Gilbert Irwin, Ph.D., passed away, aged 85, on Monday, January 31st, 2011, at Charlotte County Hospital after a brief illness. Born on March 25, 1925 in Chamcook, N.B. to the late George and Mary (Craig) Irwin of St. Andrews. Henry Irwin was among many other things; a friend, a golfer, a hockey champion, a plumber, a Mason, a politician, a father, a senior provincial civil servant, a Deputy Minister, a Legion member, the 1st General Manager of the New Brunswick Salmon Growers Association; but above all he was, is and always will be a tireless promoter of his beloved St. Andrews, Charlotte County and the province of New Brunswick. World War II was raging in Europe when he graduated from high school in St. Andrews, after playing on the NB Provincial Class M Championship hockey team, and he, like most boys his age, wanted to sign up and do his part. He enlisted in the RCAF and trained as a wireless air gunner. When the war ended he went to UNB but returned home to help his father, George, with the family plumbing and heating business. His sense of community got him involved in local politics and he was elected to the St. Andrews Town Council. His inherent leadership and way with people brought him some notoriety and he was soon approached and asked to run for higher political office and in 1960 was elected to the New Brunswick Legislature as a part of the Liberal government of Louis J. Robichaud, for Charlotte and the Fundy Isles. He was appointed to Cabinet as the Minister of Education and working with the government and the department, Irwin initiated sweeping new legislation that dramatically altered the education system in New Brunswick. They created the Community College system, then known as Trade Schools and made access to it a regional approach across the province. The New Brunswick Teachers College was established which standardized the way teachers earned their credentials. They further solidified the base for UNB and supported the expansion of the Saint John Campus. In addition to that, discussions were initiated that later led to the establishment of the Université de Moncton. Henry Irwin was bestowed an Honorary Doctorate of Philosophy from UNB for his vision and leadership in the field of Education in New Brunswick. After his political career ended he returned to the family business for a while in his beloved St. Andrews, but shortly then entered the New Brunswick civil service with the Department of Municipal Affairs as Administrative Services Director. Shortly after that, he was asked to take on the role of Executive Director of the newly created New Brunswick Emergency Measures Organization. His leadership and organizational skills and abilities were soon tested in the extreme as he led the provincial response to the Saint John River flood of 1973. He continued to work hard for the people of New Brunswick in the various roles he held within the civil service, all with the Department of Municipal Affairs and with EMO NB. His hard work, devotion and dedication was recognized in 1982 when Progressive Conservative Premier, Richard Hatfield, appointed Irwin to the position of Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, the post he held until his retirement in 1985. Almost immediately after leaving government, Henry was approached by several individuals from Charlotte County who were involved in the developing aquaculture industry and he accepted the challenge as the first General Manager of the New Brunswick Salmon Growers Association. Once he had assisted in getting that organization on its feet he took a consultant position with the Campobello Company, a U.S. based organization attempting to establish estate sized residential lots on a large undeveloped part of Campobello Island. Following that he worked in conjunction with Tritor Ltd., who were building new and expanding existing retail malls in Bathurst, Miramichi, Saint John, Moncton and Fredericton. New Brunswick entrepreneur Jim Ross, now Senator Jim Ross, brought Henry into his organization, Ross Ventures, and he worked on several development projects during his time there. His past performance as an honest and hardworking senior civil servant had not gone unnoticed and when the need arose for the 1991 Provincial Election, then Premier Frank McKenna asked Irwin to take on the role of Chief Electoral Officer for the province, a role he proudly accepted and professionally carried out. He was also proud to serve as Co-Chair, with Charlie McElman, on the New Brunswick Rural and Urban Land Use Commission, which studied the impact on municipalities of the outward migration to rural areas of urban dwellers. In 2000, Henry Irwin left Fredericton and finally retired to St. Andrews. Once there he became an enthusiastic and very active member of the Royal Canadian Legion, Passamaguoddy Branch #8. His affiliation with the Legion was a source of great pride in his Country and for all those who served and are serving the Armed Forces. Upon his return home, he was also asked to be a member of and proudly served on the Board of Directors of the Passamaquoddy Lodge, Senior Care Facility. During all this time, he enjoyed gardening, his friends, the wonderful game of golf, his association with the Fredericton Golf Club - serving a term as president there - and his cherished St. Andrews Algonquin Golf Course and all his golfing buddies. He was a proud member of the Maritime Senior Golfers Association and traveled to PEI, Nova Scotia and around New Brunswick to play in their events each year. This love for golf led to him spending many winters of his later life on Perdido Key in the area of Pensacola, Florida. At the Perdido Bay Sportsman's Club, he made many, many more friends from across Canada and the United States as the snow birds would gather from November to April each year. He lived a life full of good friends, which means he led a good life to have been blessed to have so many others a part of it. Pre-deceased by his parents and second wife Joan (Douglas), he is survived by his loving wife of seven years, Kathleen "Katie" Irwin (Doucet-Howard); his first wife Madelyn Irwin (Meating) of St. Andrews; his son Jeffrey Irwin (Kim Crossland) and family of Fredericton; and his daughter Jane Irwin of St. Andrews. His step-daughter Lynn Veinot (Claude) and family of Fall River, N.S.; Kathlene's daughter Lynn Brown (Charlie) and family of Red Deer, Alberta. His brother Lt. Cot (retired) George "Jack" Irwin (Florence) of Medicine Hat, Alberta; his nephew Brig. Gen.(retired) Steven Irwin(Deanne) and family of Orleans, Ontario. He is also survived by several half brothers and sisters; Mary Dowling and family of St. Andrews, Elizabeth Irwin-Kenyon (Gary) and family of St. Andrews; Cindy Noble and family of St. Stephen, NB; Noreen Savoie (Gerry) and family of Bathurst, NB; Stuart Irwin (Sandra) and family of Canterbury, NB; Tom Irwin (Sandy) of Moncton, NB; and Gail Ehrenreich of Trenton, Ontario. The past year or so for Henry, his wife Katie, and his son Jeffrey has been a series of trips to, and stays in, various hospitals and care facilities across southern New Brunswick. Katie especially has been the constant in Henry's life, his guiding light, as he has struggled in recent months and her attentiveness deserves special thanks. The Irwin family would also like to express their most heart-felt gratitude and appreciation to the staff at Passamaquoddy Lodge, the doctors and staff at the Charlotte County Hospital and at the Cognitive Assessment Unit at St. Josephs Hospital in Saint John, for all their kindnesses and quality of care that truly soared above what is expected or required. We also wish to say thank you to all of Henry's friends, former colleagues, associates and acquaintances for your kind expressions of support and caring. He led a full and productive life and we celebrate his 85 years of service to New Brunswickers. In lieu of flowers, donations to one of the following charities would be greatly appreciated: the Passamaquody Lodge, The Charlotte County Cancer Society, The Alzheimer's Society, the Charlotte County Hospital, or a charity of your choice. LYNOTT, JAMES E., Hon. MLA - 1839-1890 - The news of the death of Hon. James E. Lynott at Saint George on Tuesday evening, January 7 1890, was a sad shock to his many friends throughout the county and province. For some days previous it was known that Mr. Lynott was very ill, but some anticipated that the end would come so soon. Many even thought that he would be able to take part in the coming local contest, his candidature having been announced. There was not a better known man in this county than Mr. Lynott. For many years past and put to within a short time previous to his death, he was intimately connected with the business interests of the county as its representative and as manager of the Grand Southern Railway, and no scheme for the advancement of the interests of the people of the county was without his countenance. At an early age he was engaged by the late Mr. Dennis Bradley, of Saint Andrews, to assist him in his dry goods business at that place. After spending some time there, Mr. Bradley opened a branch store in St. Stephen and placed Mr. Lynott in charge. For two years, from 1859 to 1861, he remained here. He then moved to St. George and established a business of his own, which he carried on up to within a short time before his death. To Mr. Lynott, perhaps more than to any other man, is due the Grand Southern Railway. When capitalists first began to develop the wealth stored up in the granite hills of the Magaguadavic, Mr. Lynott at once saw the necessity for railway communication with the outside world. From that time forward, he was a strenuous advocate of the road. In his capacity as a citizen or on the floors of the Legislature, he was its ardent promoter, and largely to his efforts its successful completion may be ascribed. Mr. Lynott was first elected to the Assembly in 1878, having been an unsuccessful candidate in a previous election. He at once took a prominent place on the floor of the House and was recognized as one of its ablest debaters. Here he advocated, among other measures, a lieu law and an extension of the franchise. He support Fraser government, and, on his re-election in 1882, he was appointed Speaker, a position which he filled with ability and acceptance until the dissolution of the House in 1886. In the election of 1886 he was defeated, owing largely to over-confidence on the part of his friends, who considered his election sure, as, indeed, did nearly every man in the county. Although not at all well, he had determined to be a candidate in the approaching local contest, with strong hopes of success. It is thought that over-exertion in the canvass caused a recurrence of the illness with which he was afflicted last summer and which terminated fatally on Tuesday. During the years of his Legislative life, he was busily engaged in other matters, attending to his business at St. George and acting as manager of the Grand Southern Railway, a position which he occupied until the sale of railroad in 1888. he was very active in municipal, agricultural and educational matters, having served in the county council and as a school trustee for a number of years. In 1883, Mr. Lynott was married to Kathleen, third daughter of the late Daniel Sullivan, Esquire, of St. Stephen. Ten children were given them, four of who survive. Mr. Lynott was a lover of nature and an enthusiastic sportsman. One of his last acts was the organization of the Utopia and Trout Lake Fish and Game Association, a company formed for the purpose of utilizing some of the Splendid fishing privileges in and about Lake Utopia. he was a warm friend and an entertaining companion, and the many who have enjoyed his society in days gone by and have come within the charm of his genial presence will sincerely mourn his loss. The Courier tenders its deepest sympathy to his bereaved family in their heavy affliction. (source: Saint Croix Courier - 09 January 1890)

McGAW, LELAND WATSON MLA - 1927-2017 - We are sad to announce the passing of Leland Watson McGaw, peacefully in his sleep at Windsor Court, Fredericton, his home of the last two years, on March 26, 2017. Born in Oak Hill, N.B. on July 27, 1927, he was the only son of Walter and Margaret (McMorran) McGaw. He was predeceased by his wife of 66 years, Eileen. He is survived by his son Richard McGaw (Gail Storr); grandsons Ryan (Tamarisk) and Peter; step-grandchildren Peter Storr (MJ) and Karen Storr (Benoit); great-grandson Ryker; and step-greatgrandsons Nicolas, Phillipe and Felix. Leland spent his early years working in the woods, running a lumber camp while still a teenager. In the 1950s he was a heavy equipment operator and in the 1960s he was co-owner of a clothing store in St. Stephen. In 1967 he was elected as one of four MLAs for Charlotte County, and was subsequently was reelected to Charlotte West, serving 20 years in the Legislature. While in the Legislature, he served as Deputy Speaker, Minister of Tourism and Chair of the N.B. Power. He was devoted to his constituents, whether they voted for him or not. He found employment for many, and interceded with government when people had problems that he could fix. It was difficult to have an evening meal without a phone call or someone showing up in the driveway looking for help, and he always gave it. It is fair to say that he left politics with his respect and integrity intact, and continued to help when he could even out of office. Through everything, and right to the end, his sense of humour never left him. Leland loved his family and was as devoted to it as he was to politics, never letting one take over the other. After politics, he returned to his love of the woods. He loved to hunt and fish. In 1989, with help from a friend, he cut the wood and built his camp "Esoonac" where he spent many happy hours with Eileen, often entertaining large numbers of family and friends. He also started a Christmas tree farm, working it into his 80s. For many years, he brought the Grade 5 children from McAdam Elementary for a day of orientation in Christmas tree production and a meal at Esoonac. The family extends appreciation to the staff of Windsor Court, who provided care and compassion during his time there. He became one of their family. Funeral service will be held from The S.O. Mehan and Son Funeral Home Ltd. 23 Main Street, St. Stephen, NB, on Thursday March 30, 2017 at 3:30PM with Archdeacon John Matheson officiating. Family will receive friends at the funeral home on Thursday from 12 Noon until time of service. For those who wish in lieu of flowers, remembrances to the charity of ones choice would be appreciated by the family.

O'BRIEN, JAMES MLA - 1833-1922 - The death is announced in St. George of James O'Brien, formerly M.P.P. (Member of Provincial Parliament) for Charlotte. Mr. O'Brien was born in Nova Scotia in 1833, the family move to St. George when he was a small boy. He followed blacksmith's trade from the time of his early manhood until 1892 when he was elected member of the legislature and served two terms. He was also Scott Act inspector for Charlotte County for several years, secretary of the school trustees and town treasurer, which tow later offices he filled up to the time of his death. In all of these different capacities he served the public faithfully and well. He leaves five daughters: Mrs. H. Vaughan Dewar (Dalrymple), Mrs. John McKinney (Annie) of Calais, Mrs. May Connell, Mrs. Gillmor Stewart (Edith) and Miss Theodora; and one son, Flood. In politics he was a Liberal and in religion he was a Presbyterian. (source: The Daily Telegraph and Sun (Saint John), 08 July 1922) - July 7, St. George - The funeral of the late James O'Brien was a very imposing one. The boy scouts and school children followed an automobile filled with flowers. Rev. Mr. Kerr, Presbyterian, Rev. Mr. Wetmore, Baptist, and Rev. Mr. LeRoy, Church of England, were present. Cars bearing the mayor, members of town council and school trustees were followed by the hearse, the pallbearers walking. They were all relatives of Mr. O'Brien and were

John and E. R. O'Brien, Gillmor and Horace Stewart, H. V. Devers and L. Condle. The mourners were followed by relatives and representatives of practically every family in town. Mr. O'Brien in thirty-two years, never missed the closing exercises of the schools and never missed a school meeting in all those years, a record probably never equaled in New Brunswick. Coming to St. George over eighty years ago, with his parents from Nova Scotia, he saw many chances and, the possessor of a good memory, his reminiscences were both interesting and instructing. He saw St. George when lumber was king and worked on many a fast clipper turned out, when shipyards lined the waterfront. He was well along in years when the railway put the river boats out of business and the granite dethroned lumber. He was a married man when the first telegraph office was opened in St. George, also the first in Canada and lived to see the radio in town. He worked behind the forge when oxen came to the blacksmith shop as often as horses lived to see the high powered cars taking the right of way. A good citizen always, he bore to his final resting place the respect, good will and esteem of the community. (source: The Daily Telegraph and Sun, Saint John - 11 July 1922)

Scovil Co., which conducted an extensive clothing and shoe business under the name of Oak Hall, which prospered and became the largest store of its type in Charlotte County. Fire in 1930 destroyed the building and all of its stock. Mr. Scovil was a leader in community affairs. He was a member of the Town Council, president of the Board of Trade and the Retail Merchants Association, and a director of the St. Stephen Exhibition, Chipman Memorial Hospital and Clark Bros. Shoe Factory. He was a charter member of the Rotary Club and a warden of the Trinity Church for many years. He was a former president of the Curling Club. A zealous Liberal all his life, Mr. Scovil was a member of the Legislature from 1930 to 1925, and also headed the Charlotte County Liberal Association. STEVENSON, BENJAMIN R. Hon. MLA - 1835-1890 - News of the death of Hon. Benjamin R. Stevenson, Q.C., which occurred on Thursday last, January 16, 1890, was heard with deepest regret throughout the province, and more particularly by the people of Charlotte County, who knew him best and with whom he was associated most intimately from boyhood to the time of his untimely deceased. Mr. Stevenson had been ill for some months previous to his death and his failing health was not unnoticed by his friends, but few expected that he would pass away so suddenly and so soon. Previous to Tuesday of last week he was able to attend to his regular work. On that day, however, he complained to feeling unwell and did not go to his office as usual. On Wednesday he was stricken with what some considered paralysis, and on Thursday evening he did. Mr. Stevenson's career has been a most successful one. He was born about fifty-five years ago in the town where he died and in the history of which in late years he has been a prominent actor. Educated at the old grammar school, where so many of the sons of the old shire town have been prepared for the great battle of life, which they all regard with warmest affection, and from whose walls a majority of them have gone forth to lead honorable and sometimes brilliant lives, he completed his studies at the Fredericton university and, after obtaining his degree, with honors, entered upon the study of law. In 1860 he was admitted to the provincial bar and began to practice in St. Andrews, being appointed registrar of probates about the same time. In 1867 he was elected to represent the county in the House of Assembly and in 1871 became a member of the government as surveyor-general. He was a successful candidate in every subsequent contest until 1882. He held the position of surveyor-general until 1878, when he resigned, although still retaining his place in the government, and in 1879 was appointed Speaker. In 1882 he abandoned provincial politics and became a candidate for the Commons. In this contest he was unsuccessful and he retired from active political life, being appointed judge of probate for his county. During all the years of his active life he exhibited a warm interest in the affairs of his native town and of the province at large. He was a leading spirit in the Charlotte County agricultural society, being its president for some years; he served several terms as a school trustee and was a prominent member of All Saints church, in the affairs of which he took an active part and which he represented in the diocesar synod for many years. In connection with the late Hon. James E. Lynott, he was foremost in the promotion of the Grand Southern Railroad, now the Shore Line Railway, and through his efforts in the Assembly and elsewhere, the completion of the road was secured. He was among the first to take advantage of the rich deposits of wealth in the granite hills of St. George and was a member of the Bay of Fundy Red Granite company, an organization formed for the development of the quarries and preparing the stone for market, but which was not as successful as the companies that have succeeded it in the same enterprise. The operations of this company were carried on at considerable financial loss and Mr. Stevenson was a heavy loser. He was a stockholder and one of the directors of the New Brunswick and Canada railway up to the time of its transfer to the New Brunswick Railway, and, indeed, there were few commercial interests in the county generally with which he was not directly or indirectly connected. He was leading freemason, holding the office of Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick for one or two terms, and he was highly esteemed by the craft generally. In 1860 Mr. Stevenson was married to Miss Kate Bolton, sister of the late John Bolton, M.P. for Charlotte from 1857 to 1872. Mrs. Stevenson survives her husband, with their two children - a son and a daughter. By Mr. Stevenson's death, St. Andrews loses one of her most prominent citizens, and many of her citizens one of their best friends. Those who knew Mr. Stevenson best esteemed him most highly and to his intimate friends his loss is well-nigh irreparable. To those who were but slightly acquainted with him, he sometimes appeared cold and unfriendly, but beneath his apparently uncongenial exterior rested a warm heart, which was always open to the cry of the needy and was full of sympathy for his fellows. He was a generous and loving husband and father, and no words can express the loss his family have sustained by his death. With them, in their great loss, the Courier deeply sympathizes. The funeral of the late Mr. Stevenson took place on Saturday and a very large number attended to pay the last tribute of respect to him whom, while he lived, they delighted to honor. Business was suspended during the hours occupied by the ceremony. Many people from the outlying districts were in attendance, and a number of the masonic fraternity of St. Stephen, with others, went down the river in the tug Wellman to assist at the sad rite. The funeral procession was formed at 2:30 o'clock. The remains were taken to All Saints church, which was filled to its utmost capacity by those in attendance, where the service for the burial of the dead was read. At the grave the service was completed, and was followed by the solemn and impressive masonic ceremony.

TAYLOR, HENRY I. Hon. Dr. - 1862-1943 - The town of St. George lost its first citizen and the Province a distinguished son, in the sudden passing on Saturday, April 10, 1943, of Dr. Henry I. Taylor, for over half a century the well beloved "Doctor" and friend to the entire town and countryside. While not good health for some years, he had been up and around the previous days, and his death brought grief to every citizen, as well as to a host of friends and admirers throughout the Province. Dr. Taylor was born in West Saint John, July 28, 1862, son of the late John K. and Catherine O. Taylor. Here he spent his boyhood days, receiving his education in the Albert School in West Saint John, the Saint John Grammar School, then going to the University of New Brunswick, and finally to Edinburgh University, Edinburgh, Scotland, graduating in Arts at UNB in 1882, and taking his medical course at Edinburgh, graduating in 1886. Following his graduation in medicine, he practised for a time in New Southshields, England, then returned to Saint John. Here he remained but a brief time, and in 1888 commenced his medical practice in St. George, where he served with kindliness and devotion to all in need of his services for a period of fifty-five years. He was a member of the Board of School Trustees for many years, always taking an active personal interest in the education and advancement of the youth of the community. He had a keen interest in the work of the Red Cross Society, and it was largely through his efforts when he was Minister of Health for New Brunswick, that the District Nurse service was established in this community, sponsored by the Red Cross. First elected to the Legislature in 1908, Dr. Taylor represented Charlotte County for twenty-seven conservative years, believed to be a record of Legislative service in this province. His first and only defeat was in 1935, at the time of the Provincial Liberal landslide, when the entire Conservative ticket was beat in this county. Shortly before the election of 1917 Dr. Taylor service as minister without portfolio in the government of Hon. Premier James A. Murray. During the premiership of John B. M. Baxter in 1925, Dr. Taylor was chosen to succeed Dr. W. F. Roberts, first minister of health of the province. A year later the portfolio of labor being added to that of health Dr. Taylor became New Brunswick's first minister of labor. As Minister of Health he was especially concerned with the problems of having medical service for the rural areas, regretting that few members of the profession followed his own example, as that of the well-educated type of country doctor who won wide regard for unselfish service but little financial reward. In religion, Dr. Taylor was a Methodist, and gave strong support to the Presbyterian Church in St. George. He was the second oldest member of the St. George Masonic Lodge, F. and A. M., No. 12. He is survived by two brothers, Rev. W. A. Taylor, D.D., of Beamys Point, New York, and Edward R. Taylor, of West Saint John, and two nephews, John E, Taylor of Cornwall, Ontario, and John Fuller Taylor, a professor of Harvard University, and a niece, Miss Jean Clark, of Halifax, Nova Scotia. A brother and sister died several years ago. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon at 2:30pm, from his residence, and was one of the largest in the history of the town. Long before the appointed hour for the service, crowds of people from every walk of life and from all sections of the countryside gathered at his home to pay their last tribute of respect to their departed friend and physician. The service was under the auspices of the Masonic Order, with Rev. Samuel Davies, D.D., of the Presbyterian Church, St. Andrews, conducting. In his brief remarks, Dr. Davies paid high tribute to the many fine qualities of heart and mind of the departed one, who, he said, would long be remembered for his friendship and unfailing help by all those who stood in need. Pallbearers were May William Campbell, Dr. F. J. Cheesman, Alvah C. Toy, Hebert Parks, Clarence Munroe and George Henry. Scores of out-of-town friends from Saint John, Fredericton, St. Stephen and St. Andrews, as well as from other parts of the province were present at the funeral. During the afternoon, schools and all stores were closed as a mark of respect. By his special wish, he was laid at rest in the cemetery at St. George, where he had given his life's work.

TODD, IRVING RANDALL, Hon. Senator - 1861-1932 - Charlotte County lost one of its most distinguished and most able citizens in the death at an early hour Tuesday morning, December 27, 1932, of Senator Irving Randall Todd at his home on Pleasant Street, Milltown, N.B., following an illness of several months' duration which he bore with unfaltering courage. His passing brings to a close a life crowded in achievements which brought benefits of great practical value to his native town and county. Endowed with a keen, well-balanced mind and a tremendous capacity for work, he devoted his talents to the up building of this section of New Brunswick, and to his ability this County owes much for its present standing. He passed his 71st birthday on December 15 of this year, 1932. Irving Randall Todd, the eldest son of Charles Frederick and Anna Porter Todd, was born in Milltown, New Brunswick, December 15, 1861. His father's family came originally from the north of Ireland. His great-grandfather settled in St. Stephen in 1811. His grandfather, Hon. William Todd, for many years a member of the old Legislative Council of the province, was offered Senatorship in Canada's first Parliament of 1867. This honor was declined because of advancing years. On his mother's side, Senator Todd was descended from United Empire Loyalist stock. He received his education at the Milltown High School and at the Hallowell Classical Institute in Maine, but when still in his teens he entered the lumbering business which had been in his family for two generations. In consequence of his father's early break-down in health and long period of invalidism, the entire responsibility of the business fell on his young shoulders. At his father's death in 1893, the family estate was found to be so heavily involved through depreciation of investments made in Florida that it was necessary to sell the timber lands in the northern and close the lumbering business in order to meet the estate's commitments. So instead of the easy road of an inherited fortune and an established business, the late Senator, while still comparatively young, was obliged to make a fresh start in life. At this time several seemingly promising commercial openings were offered in the United States, but he cherished his British birthright too dearly for him to consider seriously leaving Canada. From 1893 until 1903 Senator Todd was manager of the St. Croix Log Driving Company, and in the later year founded the Eastern Pulp Wood Company. Its beginnings were humble and its operations at first restricted, but die to the energy and the organizing ability of its founder, its volume of business rapidly increased until it became a commercial enterprise whose scope extended over the southwestern portion of the province. In 1911, somewhat to the surprise of his friends, Mr. Todd decided to retire and sold his interest in this very successful business. He never desired to be a man of great wealth. He wished to travel and have time for other interest that the commercial. He and his wife made an extended sojourn in England in 1912 and 1913. The war brought an opportunity for the service his alert brain and physical activity demanded. He served as a member of the Belgian Relief Committee, the Provincial Recruiting Committee, and was in charge of two very successful Victory bond campaign for his county, but his greatest war work was undoubtedly his many unrecorded acts of help and sympathy to those families who had sons serving overseas. It was in the winter of 1917 when he and Mrs. Todd were spending a few months in Jamaica that a cable was received from the War Office saying that their son was in one of the London Military hospitals in a critical condition. With characteristic pluck they crossed the Atlantic at a time when the submarine menace was at its height. Although their liner escaped the submarines, she struck, when only 20 miles off Liverpool bar, a mine which, it was discovered later had been laid by a German craft masquerading as a Norwegian timber schooner. It was thought that the liner was going down at once. The passengers were hurriedly got off in the boats, Mr. and Mrs. Todd being placed in different ones. All this happened at dusk in a driving snow storm. Luckily both the open boats which carried them were picked up that same night and they were re-united in Liverpool. In 1918, Mr. Todd was summoned to the Senate to succeed Senator Gilmour. This appointment was the somewhat rare case of the office seeking the man and not the man the office. Although always interested in politics, he was too shy for public speaking, of too balanced judgment ever to be a strong partisan. It was consequently, not without some searching of heart on his own part and a good deal of urging on the part of his friends that he accepted the honor. He was at that time a supporter of the Union Government. His family were Liberals and he himself, although dubious of the wisdom of their 1911 reciprocity policy, had adhered to that party until the 1917 election. In addition to his parliamentary duties he was for a long time a director of Ganong Bros., Ltd., and also of the New Brunswick Telephone Company. His associates on the latter board became in time among his most cherished friends. He served as president of the Valley Railway for six months in 1917, assuming the office for a brief period at the request of his great personal friend, the late Premier Clarke. From 1919 until the time of his death he was president of the New Brunswick and Canada Railway. One of Mr. Todd's early associations with the life of the community was through his appointment to the Board of Trustees, and also to the Board of Directors of Chipman Memorial Hospital, having been a member of both bodies since the inception of the institution. In June 1929, while at Ottawa, Senator Todd had a critical illness and although he recovered from it, he never entirely regained robust health again. It was, however, not until the spring of 1932 that his condition caused his family and friends uneasiness. Since September it has been known to his intimate circle that his rapid breakup of health was from a cause which permitted no operation and offered no hope of recovery. He accepted that fact with the same callm heroism with which he endured to the end more than most men are called on to bear. Senator Todd is survived by his wife, who was a daughter of the late Charles Edward and Ann Grant Boardman, of Milltown. He leaves one son, Charles F. Todd; a brother, William Todd, of Mount Carmel, Connecticut; a nephew and four nieces. The funeral service will be held at his home, Pleasant Street, this Thursday afternoon at 2:30. The service at the home will be conducted by Rev. J. L. Rose, pastor of the Milltown United Church, and at the grave by Rev. E. Hailstone, rector of Christ Church, St. Stephen. Those who will act as pallbearers are: A. D. Ganong, MP, W. L. Grant, Walter L. Cobb, and S. A. McBride. Among the out-of-town visitors expected here to attend the service are the following: Hon. Dr. Murray MacLaran, MP, Minister of Nation Defence, Representing the Federal Government; Hon. George Jones, MP, Apohaqul; R. B. Hanson, KC, MP, Fredericton; Senator F. B. Black, H.P. Robinson, O. J. Fraser, representing the New Brunswick Telephone Company, and S. E. Moore, treasurer of the company. Interment will be made in the Rural Cemetery, St. Stephen.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 3 pm by Rev. Benjamin Clark, Calais, and Rev. J. T. Ibbott, St. Stephen, with burial in the family lot at the St. Stephen Rural Cemetery. Widely known Mr. Todd was one of the best known men in the Maritimes. In 1899 he was elected on the Liberal ticket as one of the representatives from Charlotte County to the New Brunswick Legislature. In 1908 he contested the county and was elected a member of the federal House at Ottawa, defeating the late Gilbert W. Ganong. In 1911 Mr. Todd was again a candidate for the House of Commons but was defeated by the late Thomas A. Hartt of St. Andrews. He was again defeated on the formation of the Union Government, to which he was strongly opposed. Mr. Todd was one of the best informed men in his native province and at one time operated a large stock farm at Todd's Point, where he had many thoroughbred horses. He also had a half mile race track on the premises and maintained a stable on Union Street where he kept a string of race horses. Included among his stock were such famous horses as Elation, Ed Gardo and Lumps, known by horsemen far and wide. There were also six full-blooded mares which Mr. Todd prized very highly. The stable at Todd's Point and on Union Street were the admiration of hundreds of visitors. The late Mr. Todd was a keen sportsman and in his younger days was a great baseball supporter and a good player himself. Many times he took the local baseball team to Saint John. Fredericton and other places at his own personal expense. Greatly interested in the peat moss industry he had a large plant at Musquash, where a large crew of men were employed. This plant was destroyed by fire some years ago. There is another smaller plant on the Basswood Road, a few miles from St. Stephen, which is turning out a good quality of moss. Mr. Todd spent much time and money on the venture and endeavored to perfect a machine for drying the moss rapidly. He made a life study of the industry on which he was an authority and several times was invited to Washington and other places to lecture on peat moss. Mr. Todd was also interested in the lumber business through the firm of F. H. Todd and Sons which at one time did a big business on the St. Croix. A son of the late Freeman H. Todd of St. Stephen and Adeline Boardman of Calais, his father was one of the founders of the Calais Library. His father was also founder of the St. Stephen Rural Cemetery of which the former Lieutenant-Governor was president.
